Your Rights under the Fair Credit Reporting Act

Depending on the size of the policy applied for, we may request that an investigative consumer report about the Proposed Insured be given to us. It will be conducted by a national organization skilled in obtaining information about people. A credit report may be requested in connection with this application to determine eligibility of insurance or premium to be charged.

The kind of information we may be seeking includes such facts as residence verification, marital status, occupation, general reputation, personal characteristics and mode of living. It will be obtained through personal interviews with the Proposed Insured's friends, neighbors, associates and other acquaintances. Inquiries will not be directed toward determining the Proposed Insured's sexual orientation.

The Proposed Insured, upon written request, will be informed whether or not an investigative report was requested, and if a report was ordered, the name and address of the Consumer reporting agency. A copy of this report is available to the Proposed Insured upon request.

To approve your insurance and service your policy, we may collect or disclose information about you, as permitted by law, which may include certain disclosures made without your prior authorization. You have the right to access and correct personal information that we have about you. You may also receive a detailed notice on Gerber Life's Information Practices, upon request.

Benefits, Exclusions and Limitations

No physical exam is necessary in most cases. Coverage is dependent on answers to health questions, and a physical is necessary for applicants age 51 or older or applying for more than $300,000. If the insured dies by suicide within two years from the issue date, the only amount payable will be the premiums paid for the policy, less any debt against the policy.

Benefit amounts are subject to Gerber Life insurance limits.

A Buyer's Guide to Life Insurance and a Policy Summary are sent with all policies. You can get them without applying for insurance by writing to us.

Payment of benefits under the term life policy or whole life policy is the obligation of, and is guaranteed by, Gerber Life Insurance Company. Guarantees are based on the claims paying ability of Gerber Life.
